Project Description

While StudioCraft is highly experienced in building custom millwork for healthcare spaces, we also create unique designs for a wide range of applications, including hospitality. Our extensive capability portfolio is a great benefit to our dealer partners, helping them win more of a client's floorplate. A superior example of this is a cafeteria project we completed for CHI Franciscan Health's Harrison Acute Care hospital on the Olympic Peninsula.

Process

After we demonstrated our quality and service by creating custom solutions for the hospital's nurses stations, the health system and their design firm engaged us to build cafeteria tables and benches with a consistent and refined aesthetic. The health system awarded us the project after a challenging experience with another vendor. CHI Franciscan Health and our dealer partner recognized the scope of our capabilities in providing diverse solutions for hospitality, offices, and trade shows. Our work creating bespoke displays for automotive dealerships, athletic leagues, and more translated to our high-quality execution for CHI Franciscan Health.

Solution

To create durable yet attractive tables that would optimize the hospital's investment, we began by building steel frame tables clad in solid surface. For a decorative flourish, we added woodgrain laminate to the inside of the legs—elevating the design and the experience for people dining in the space.

These tables required precise fabrication, along with a sturdy steel infrastructure that will withstand the rigors of a demanding healthcare environment. What's more, they are the perfect complement to the other elegant fixtures and furniture in the dining space.

“StudioCraft’s expansive capabilities allowed us to supplement our standard products and deliver the exact solution the client sought. Being a single source provider made the process simpler for the A+D firm and client, giving more control over the finished product.” - Jeff, Senior Sales Consultant
